

EQUALITY - Part 2.

At a time when the consciousness of human beings has changed because their perception has expanded significantly, the understanding of human beings has changed, and you have the opportunity to consciously abolish all of these promises and oaths for yourself.

Sacred Love is a free relationship, it is an absolutely free union of two human beings, man and woman, which allows these beings to enter and leave this union freely because there is EQUALITY, APPRECIATION, RESPECT and TRUST between them.

And that is why they can respect the free decision of the other human being.

Sacred Love between man and woman is not a relationship that must last a lifetime, this bond lasts only when the energy of Love flows between them, they respect each other, honour and trust each other.

If any of these attributes - LOVE, APPRECIATION, RESPECT, TRUST - are lost among these human beings, and they honour the free decision of the other human being that is part of the union, they will allow themselves to freely leave it because it no longer fulfils the original purpose for which their union was created.

However, this is still not happening, it is still not respected, not appreciated and not understood in our society.

And you continue to live in these unions and relationships without Love, Appreciation, Respect and Trust because on the one hand you are bound by your promises and oaths made in previous incarnations, and on the other by your society's rules and prejudices and they are more to you than Love. Because these rules have bound us together by joint wealth and possessions that are created in this union.

And it is precisely this property that will often not allow you to come out of this union many times, even if there is no longer any Love, Appreciation, Respect, or Trust.

And by wealth and possessions, I do not only understand, tangible property such as house, land, cars, money, yachts, jewels, or expensive furniture but also YOU often put in this category your own children, and you do not realize that they are living beings like YOU that they have their free will and their sacred right to decide freely.

And it is a closed circle that holds you energetically in that union because it holds and binds you in it the energy of your own promises and oaths, as well as those new promises that you give in good faith when entering into a marriage in this life.

And it is also the energy of attachment to what you consider to be your property, and it is not just your material possessions, but also your children, often your partner whom you consider to be your property, and so although you would like to make free decisions, thus you will deny this right to yourself.

During the time this role model lasted, which was created in society as a dictatorship of marriage, you have also begun to perceive and accept not only things but also living beings as part of your property.

And because you consider your partner and children as your property, and you have taken away their right to make their own decisions, paradoxically, you have taken that right from yourself as well because you fear that you might lose all of this.

And this is the vicious circle that took away your sacred right to decide freely.

And now I will return to the Solar System.

And if any of the planets wanted to leave that community, it is not allowed, because the energy of the Sun, its magnetic attraction force, which created this community, the EARTH, and the rules that apply within, does not allow any being to get out this system even though they have freely and voluntarily entered it.

And the sun itself, as a living being, in this case, does not perceive its actions as something wrong or bad because Sun just meets all rules and all the parts of the agreement that were initially freely created and set by all beings.

According to the Sun, this is the way it should be, this is absolutely okay because it meets all rules that were initially established.

And the same goes for marriage.

The human being who has accepted all those promises and oaths from the other human being such as submission, obedience, servility, loyalty and slavery, just obey these rules and asks the other human being to fulfil and keep them.

If the other human being feels the desire to make free decisions, the first human being will do everything to prevent her/him from doing so and not allow it.

And when you give these promises in good faith in this life, in another life, when you return you are no longer aware of the fact that you have given these promises. However, these promises still act on the subconscious levels anyway, those energies of these promises from these subconscious levels affect the actions of both beings which can be immense suffering for you in that next life.

Because it deprives you of your right to make free decisions and you feel to be a VICTIM in this life and you do not understand that YOU have freely given up your sacred right to make your own choices.

As a victim, you create the right to criticize, judge and even condemn the other being and you place a curse upon him/her in your thoughts and often times in your own decisions and actions. Gradually you will hate the other human being, who held you captive while not realising that the head of pride - superiority turned and changed direction and settled on the other side of the imaginary pendulum and now YOU judge and place curse with the same head of pride of Superiority as the other one who ruled over you and had power over you in that life.

And this energy of hate with which you create curses becomes part of you, and in those other lives from the subconscious levels, it controls your behaviour as the subconscious patterns of your behaviour. And know that one word is enough and it may not be a deed, but only one word is enough, and this energy of hate is renewed within you very quickly, and you are controlled by the hatred of the other human being. You talk, decide and act with this hatred.

And know that it applies vice versa too.

This means that even the human being whom you have promised and sworn these promises will begin to hate you if you stop fulfilling them in accordance with their will.

And when hate is created in this union and those generated energies from past lives cannot be transformed into Love in that particular human life, they still remain part of both human beings, and they must then be reborn to gain a new chance and opportunity to change it and dissolve and transform it in Love.

This is the power of the energy of hate.

It will take away the gift and opportunity that you have received in that particular incarnation, in particular the gift that you can change the energies of past lives and transform them into Love.

So you will have to try and relive it in more and more incarnations.

And that is why it takes you as human beings so long to be able to change dictatorship of unlove, disrespect, disregard, mistrust, inequality in marriage as such, into a union of two free, equal beings who love, honour, respect and trust each other.

With the same power as the Sun energetically holds all the planets in its embrace, so, with the same power, one human being holds the other one in embrace, if there is no EQUALITY in relationship.

And this principle of power, you, human beings, took over, although subconsciously, into your society and started to apply this principle in the relationship between man and woman.

And only when a woman, though physically weaker, begins to perceive her equality in relation to a man, can she begin to dissolve energetically this attachment.

It is extremely important for your society that you realize your absolute EQUALITY towards yourself because only when you can perceive yourself as EQUAL BEINGS, you can energetically break all the promises and oaths of your subordination, obedience, submission and unfreedom to others. Because if you do not perceive yourselves as EQUAL beings and try to cancel these promises from the position of the subordinate, humiliated, small or less valuable ones, they will remain active at the energy level.

You can only break these promises and oaths when you perceive your absolute EQUALITY towards others, that is, when you perceive that you are EQUAL to all other human beings, and none of them is more than YOU and none of them is less than YOU.

It is the energy of Equality that has the GIFT and the ABILITY to dissolve and transform all the promises and oaths of subordination, obedience, inferiority, humiliation, submissiveness to the energy of FREEDOM.

And this is so because EQUALITY dissolves ENSLAVEMENT as such and returns you the GIFT OF FREEDOM, returns you the RIGHT and the POSSIBILITY to MAKE FREE DECISIONS.

And although you may have many times abolished and dismissed the promises of obedience, loyalty, subordination to your partner, you could not cancel them all, because you could not perceive yourself as an EQUAL being towards your partner. With the word EQUAL BEING I mean a being with all rights to claim what you have created together, as a being who has the EQUAL right to decide, who has the EQUAL right to equally enjoy the common property and values you have created together.
