

EQUALITY - Part 3.

And although, many times you may have abolished and dismissed the promises of obedience, loyalty, subordination to your partner, you could not cancel them all, because you could not perceive yourself as an EQUAL being towards your partner.

With the word EQUAL BEING I mean a being with all rights to claim all that you have created together, a being who has the EQUAL right to decide, who has the EQUAL right to equally enjoy the common property and values you have created together.

And it took a very long time for women, till they have realised their EQUALITY however they still could not receive it in the real matter of being and of life because in the matter of being and the life we have to act, decide and talk, just to think is not enough.

And many women embraced their EQUALITY and perceived it in their thoughts, but did not speak out or act upon it.

And inferiority, submissiveness and obedience in addition that it brings inferiority, humiliation and enslavement, it also creates in that human being an extremely great fear of the human being who has power and strength in their relationship.

And it is precisely the energy of fear that does not allow you to accept your own EQUALITY and when you have stopped worrying, you have managed to accept your EQUALITY, and vice versa, and when you have accepted your EQUALITY, you have stopped being afraid.

It is a very strong closed circle in which fear has taken away from you your EQUALITY, and at the same time, by doing so, fear does not allow you to accept EQUALITY in relation to yourself.

And fear takes away from you your EQUALITY and controls you through ENSLAVEMENT.

And often, you do not realize the energy power of the words you speak as your promises and the oaths you give in good faith, because you do not know how much you will pay for them in the next lives and you do so out of unawareness precisely because you do not know how the Laws of Universe work.

And by failing to understand the Law of Conservation of Energy, fear was able to create these traps into which you fall very easily, in which fear then imprisoned you for centuries, millennia, very long time because it depends on the ability of your Consciousness to understand and to perceive these connotations that happen in your subconscious.

And with all your promises and oaths, you give up not only your free will, your gift to decide freely, but you also give up your EQUALITY in relation to the other human being.

And instead, fear will give you ENSLAVEMENT.

And so it takes you so long then, unimaginably long, to turn a dictatorship in marriage, that reigns there into Equivalence, Freedom, Appreciation, Respect, Trust and Love.

And because these attributes are not in the relationship between men and women, you cannot even pass them on in your families, on your children.

And you already know that children learn by example, and they learn only from what they see in you, how you make decisions, act, talk and think, and therefore the change takes so long and is so hard and slow in your human society.

And the FAMILY is the foundation of the restoration of life on Mother Earth, and therefore it is extremely important for Equivalence, Mutual Respect, Trust, Respect and Love to return into the FAMILY, which creates and covers all of this at the same time.

To do so, you need to cancel and withdraw all the promises of obedience, loyalty, submission, subordination to your partner, and those you have given him/her in good faith so that you can perceive yourself as an EQUAL BEING.

Here and now, if you freely and consciously choose to do so, you can withdraw and cancel all of the following promises and oaths that you have repeatedly given in good faith to your partners throughout the line of time here on Mother Earth.

And I (name) am the equal being to you (name).

And I (name) am an absolutely equal being in relation to you (name), because I, just like you, am born out of the energy of Love, in Love and for Love, in order to have an experience as an energetic being here on Mother Earth through my physical body, in particular, an experience that my essence, that is, my soul and spirit, want to experience in that infinite being here on Mother Earth.

And because I (name) am an energetic being born out of Love, like you (name), I am an equal being to you. In essence of our birth, we are absolutely equal to each other and therefore as human beings, although different, we are absolutely equal.

And so it is, so it has always been from the beginning of the ages and so it will always be forever.

And I (name) as an equal being, consciously and freely recall and cancel all my promises and oaths, which I have said to you (name) as an equal being throughout the line of my being, whether in good faith or by force.

And I (name) recall and cancel in relation to you (name) my promise of absolute obedience, absolute submission and subordination.

I take back and cancel that you have the right to decide for me.

I take back and cancel that you have the right to decide about my children.

I take back and cancel that you have the right to decide about my property.

I take back and cancel that I give up my property for the benefit of you.

I take back and cancel that I swear that all that belongs to me will become your property.

I take back and cancel that I will fulfil your every command, word, decision and desire.

I take back and cancel that I will never stand against your will, commands, bans and words.

I take back and cancel that I will keep and fulfil every agreement at the cost of my life.

I take back and cancel that I will do as you command without any objection, even at the cost of my life.

I take back and cancel that I will never breach any of your commands and rules.

I take back and cancel that you are my master and ruler.

I take back and cancel that your wife is less than you, my lord and ruler.

I take back and cancel that, as your wife, I am obliged to obey and respect you.

I take back and cancel that, as your wife I am obliged to follow you everywhere.

I take back and cancel that I cannot speak in your presence.

I take back and cancel that I will speak only when you address me and when you allow me.

I take back and cancel that you have only the right to decide about the children that are born to us.

I take back and cancel that I can visit my children only with your permission and consent.

I take back and cancel that I will never become the wife or spouse of another man.

I take back and cancel that you are and will always be the only man in my life.

I take back and cancel that forever I will only love you.

I take back and cancel that I will never visit my parents again.

I take back and cancel that I will never speak to my parents again.

I take back and cancel that I will break all my ties to my former family.

I take back and cancel that everything I acquire, gain and create will become your exclusive property and possession.

I take back and cancel that I will maintain the secrecy of all the agreements that we conclude together.

I take back and cancel that I will never talk about things that have happened in marriage between us.

I take back and cancel all these promises and oaths throughout the line of time, through all ages, all spaces and all dimensions and so it is and so it becomes here and now, now and forever. Amen.

And I (name) speak to you (name) and take back everything that belongs to me and what is mine. I take back my sacred right to freely decide about my life, being, myself, my children until they are entrusted to me, until they become adults, free, equal beings, and until they will decide about themselves, about their property, about their life, being and their death.

And I (name) am an equal being in relation to you (name) and I have the sacred right to decide for myself, and I take this sacred right back all the time through all ages, all space and all dimensions. And so it is and so it becomes here and now, now and forever. Amen
