

INITIAL MANIPULATION OF FEAR - Part 4.

THE DESIRE of your soul is the strongest creative power within you.

THE DESIRE is what drives you forward in your lives.

If a human being could perceive the desire of his soul, he would understand the mission with which he was born on Mother Earth and then he could walk through this forest, through this mountain, straight to the top without unnecessary branches. Then the Light of Faith shines on his way; he has the Faith, the Trust and the Hope, which lead him to the top along a straight path.

And then the human being walks this way of LIFE with great joy, with the enthusiasm for the creative process and with gratitude for all that LIFE brings for himself.

And then the human being can create the energy of happiness in his heart and fills with it not only himself but also all the beings around him, so he can shine like a lighthouse that shows the way to many other human beings.

HAPPINESS is a very fragile, tender, incomprehensible essence of Love, for HAPPINESS is a very high vibration and it is created by a human being when he can live his Life in accordance with his mission and can fulfil the desire of his soul which he feels is part of his heart. and so it fills his life with the essence of what a human being is, and that is LOVE as such, in all its forms, and for each human being its own, inner point of view. That is why HAPPINESS as such is very fragile and incomprehensible, and for each of you it represents something unique and distinctive, that only YOU create, but it does not apply to others.

Of course, fear fills you with the illusion of false happiness, which can be generated by lot of money, property, wealth or fast cars, luxury homes, plenty of lovers but that is a false picture of happiness. It is a picture created by your ego, but not by your soul.

You will experience the real essence of happiness when you are in harmony with your soul's desire and the mission with which you were born into this life.

And since many of you cannot understand what they feel inside, because you do not intentionally learn to recognize it, and you do not intentionally learn to understand your feelings inside hence you do not understand what your soul desires to tell you.

That's why you accepted this false sense of happiness, which is created by fear in collaboration with the ego, and it is presented to you as the reality of your life as a whole society.

And as a measure of happiness, you have determined how wealthy the person is, and therefore the whole society is longing to possess as much as possible. Thus you have lost the fragile connection between yourselves and other human beings.

The connection that once connected you long ago in Love, in deep understanding, knowledge, collaboration and compassion, but also in the great joy and playfulness of the whole family that lived and worked together in one place ranging from great-grandchildren, grandchildren, children, parents, grandparents and great-grandparents, all generations of souls that were born together on the same lineage to Mother Earth so that they could share their experiences and learn from each other by example. Because all that you experience and accept as your experience becomes part of you.

And by breaking this connection, you have ceased to share this knowledge and experience, so you have to live many more lives to become part of it again.

And you deprive the new generations of the wisdom and kindness of your grandparents and great-grandparents while depriving the older generations of the natural playfulness, cheerfulness, straightforwardness, and the sincerity that new generations bring with them.

And you have broken this circle, this natural cycle that was created on Mother Earth in harmony of being to learn as human beings from each other and thus you lose the WISDOM OF KNOWLEDGE of your ancestors' experience and that is why fear can more easily control and manipulate you through the images of false illusions it is giving you.

It is Wisdom that helps you recognize them.

If this deep WISDOM disappears in human society on the one hand, then, on the other hand, recklessness and great disrespect for Life is created because you stop seeing the needs of other human beings. You look only at yourself, and you do not see other forms of life that live with you and create the conditions to preserve life on Mother Earth.

And all of this is the result of the initial manipulation of fear that you have accepted into yourself, as a seed, so it could sprout and grow within you.

All of this is the result of comparing, criticizing, condemning and judging yourselves and others because it has made you feel like you want more and more.

It is not conscious greed as such, it has settled in you on the subconscious levels and from there influence your decisions and creates patterns of behaviour, and YOU do not even see that you behave as a whole, as a whole society greedily. And you are greedy because you are taking the space to other forms of life on Mother Earth and deliberately destroying the conditions for life as such and even for yourself. But despite this unconscious greed, many of you don't see it at all.

So far, few human beings are awakening and beginning to see and perceive these connections, but their voices disappear in the noise of this subconscious greed that has been created within you through the initial manipulation of the fear you have accepted in yourselves.

And so we got to the beginning.

To see through the manipulation that arises in your society, open your hearts to the COMPASSION, the Compassionate Love, which will dissolve this seed that fear sowed in you and YOU will stop comparing, criticizing and judging yourself and the others, and so on is and that is the way it is. Amen.

As you can see, it has a lot of tentacles, hidden context and the consequences that fear has created with its seeds in human beings.

And all this was done by fear so that it is not easy for you to understand and find what you need to do in order to be able to recognize all the manipulations that fear then created.

By bringing all these connections from the subconscious levels to your consciousness and accepting them through your logic, you can then consciously control your actions so that you can gradually learn to stop criticizing, comparing, evaluating, and judging yourself and others and fulfil yourself with Compassion, Compassionate Love that Forgiveness brings to you as a gift, and through Forgiveness, you can accept yourself and others unconditionally. Thus you can change all the energies you create within you by creating them with Love and Compassion, and radiating this Love and Compassion from within. and so the energy around you changes.

And this is a closed circle.

If you create with fear and criticize, compare, judge yourselves and others, you create the energy of Fear within you and radiate it outwardly.

It is important to realize this because the energies that you create inside are going out and then they work in your society.

So it depends on each one of you.

And since the Cosmic Law applies that similar attracts similar, so what kind of energy you create, you attract such people.

They then enter your life and create and mirror the reality of what you live.

And the Cosmic Law of Mirroring also applies.

And since YOU are creating the energies of criticising, comparing, judging yourselves, also people who are part of your life, they will mirror it to you, and therefore they will also criticize, compare and judge.

And as a consequence in your life, you will create energies of dissatisfaction, disapproval and misunderstanding in relation to yourself and others.

I explained to you last time that the energy of misunderstanding creates an infinitely large and infinitely deep gap between human beings, which ultimately separates them from each other for long ages, bringing in these human beings feelings of injustice, unforgiveness and guilt.

And this is another consequence of manipulation that brings fear into your lives.

These are all the false images that the manipulation of fear presents to you, but you could not see through them in the reality of your lives because you could not trace this initial manipulation of fear.

Manipulation can link and combine the various instruments of fear that fear uses to hold you and control you.

Therefore, manipulation is a hidden tool of fear.

And precisely because it is hidden, it is unimaginably strong.

Manipulation is basically the most powerful tool of fear because it works undercover and connects and interconnects all other tools of fear that are visible and can be named.

Not many times happens that we reveal the manipulation of fear because it works undercover.

It is not visible at first glance and that is why you are easily manipulated. Because you cannot distinguish the false images and illusions it can create from objective truth and you accept them as the reality of your life.

And that's why it takes so long in your human society, to make some change, to discover this false image and see the objective truth.

At the same time, accepting these false images that manipulation has created as objective truth, it will create a great deal of dissatisfaction, pressure and tension inside your soul, because your soul knows the objective truth.

However as you have accepted this false illusion as an objective truth, you do not live your life in harmony with your soul and after some time, this pressure, tension and dissatisfaction with your life will create a great anger in you that you cannot change and you put yourself in the role of a victim. You are angry at yourself and at everyone around you, and at life itself and thus you are creating helplessness in yourself.
