

RESPONSIBILITY – part 4.

And I also told you many times that everything is connected and intertwined and therefore it is no coincidence that TREES are growing on Mother Earth because YOU human beings are born out of Love and have been given free will and are very closely connected with others beings born out of Love on Mother Earth, who were not given free will. And those creatures are TREES.

And you are interdependent and interconnected with them.

TREES, as beings of Love, were born CONSCIOUSLY on Mother Earth, to create the conditions for you, human beings to live here on Mother Earth.

They have prepared the conditions and space to live and breathe here.

It is very important that you have a deep respect for these beings.

They accepted this Knowledge, which was part of their cells, and it was transferred to their entire way of life.

This Knowledge was intentionally taken from you.

By losing respect for the trees as equal beings of Love who live together with you in Unity on Mother Earth, you have begun, though unconsciously, to destroy the conditions for life also for yourself.

And since everything is related, the lack of trees on Mother Earth not only causes the amount of oxygen in the air to be reduced, but it also causes the percentage of carbon dioxide to increase because it is the food for the trees.

And because YOU - as human beings exhale carbon dioxide, you feed on trees, and then they again create the oxygen that YOU breathe, allowing you to live.

And it is the closed cycle of life on Mother Earth that was born knowingly and deliberately to realize UNITY and CONNECTION with other forms of life on Mother Earth.

And since everything is related to the amount of carbon dioxide in Mother Earth's atmosphere, it creates a very delicate balance of life on Mother Earth, which in turn is associated with another cycle, namely the cycle of water on Mother Earth and this is also related with the entire system of air and atmosphere around Mother Earth.

And the fewer trees will grow on Mother Earth, the more carbon dioxide will be in the atmosphere and air, and the more greenhouse effect will increase and the temperature on Mother Earth will rise, causing more and more melting of the glaciers in which water is stored and this will disrupt the water cycle on Mother Earth, which maintains a fragile balance on Earth, not only for you human beings but also for animals, trees and plants, because their material bodies largely consists out of water.

And you need to return to your deep respect for WATER, TREES and the MOTHER EARTH as a being that has allowed you to live your life on its surface.

And for all of this, you need to take responsibility - each one of you, in yourself, to stop the silence and stand up against cutting tree and pollution of water, rivers, seas and oceans, because it depends on you whether human beings will be able to live here on Mother Earth.

And I did not say a millennium, but I said a few centuries, because the time you have to take this RESPONSIBILITY is very short, and you really have only a few centuries to do it.

Trees as beings who have consciously prepared life for you on Mother Earth have and fulfil a much greater number of functions and tasks to preserve life, as I have just mentioned and told you.

They themselves filter and purify the air of toxic substances with their crowns and leaves that you, human beings create. And now I do not mean the toxic substances that you create in the chemical industry, but now I am talking about the toxic substances that you create with your emotions such as anger, hatred, unforgiveness, but also greed, meanness, envy, recklessness, or arrogance. From all these emotions, trees are able to purify the air that YOU then breathe.

And this is because the trees are beings of unconditional love who do not have free will like YOU, are able to accept and transmit through their root into Mother Earth these toxic emotions that you create and exhale in the air such as anger, hate, greed, meanness, envy or recklessness and arrogance. Then Mother Earth receives and transforms it into the energy of Love with its deep unconditional love.

And this is a cycle that you do not see, perceive nor feel because it works on the energy level that is invisible to you by your physical sight.

But this level allows you to stay here.

If the trees did not clean the air of all these toxins that you create inside of you and then exhale them, and if Mother Earth would not transform them again into the energy of Love, you would be choked, a long time go, on greed, anger, hatred, envy, or meanness that you create within yourself.

So far you do not perceive this task and the mission of the trees.

In addition, trees, on another level that you can already see with physical sight provide additional tasks for you.

They strengthen the soil, filter water, retain water through their root systems, prevent rainwater wash-off during rainfall and create humus soil in forests and cool down, reduce the air temperature in heat.

Even your scientists have proven that in cities where large and huge trees with large crowns grow, trees can reduce the air temperature by up to 10 degrees above the hot concrete or asphalt parts of your cities.

All of this should make you more aware to realise your mutual deep connection and the unity of life that you create together with these beings on Mother Earth.

And it is important that you understand that these beings are doing it CONSCIOUSLY.

TREES are conscious and intelligent beings, they work and provide for you and they do it CONSCIOUSLY.
