

HUMILITY and CRUELTY – part 4.

Question: I would like to ask once again whether it is really so that the greatest cruelty is created when they look into the eyes of their victim?

Answer: Yes, in a way, but the cruelty is the result of hatred and of hidden hatred towards oneself.

And since that human being can't work with it, he turns it onto a victim who can't change it because the victim has no power to change it.

The man himself has experienced such behaviour or injustice in his childhood and he starts to hate others because as a small child he could not return it and it became a pattern of his behaviour and then he avenges all of them but the original thing in him is his hatred for himself with which he fights and can't come out of it.

It is a circle and so he turns that hatred like a mirror on others and thus demonstrates his power and harms them thus satisfying himself inwardly but he will be never satisfied because hatred cannot be satisfied and therefore it is getting bigger and bigger.

And therefore it hurts more and more because it multiplies.

And if such a person really gains power then you can see the destruction, the killing and the genocide in the history for yourself.

And it was both Hitler and Stalin.

Question: Did I get it right that when firearms were invented there was still the cruelty of killing but it wouldn't create such great cruelty in those people because they no longer looked into each other's eyes when killing? Yes.

Question: The cruelty is still there, but is it created as if in another way?

Answer: Yes. On the one hand, anonymity helps to increase the cruelty but the essence of cruelty is the HATE that the human being has within himself.

Remember that it was Hitler's hatred of the nation because he felt superior and he wanted to eliminate the less valuable race.

Question: Why did Hitler have such a big hatred?

Answer: It grew in him from his own UNLOVE to HIMSELF and from the inability to return the strokes he received.

This is a general principle and it applies to all human beings, not just Hitler.

Out of his own weakness, it turns inside him and that person turns the mirror on to others whom he begins to hate.

When combined with the power that Hitler acquired, he could manipulate the people and his own German nation and by the superiority of the white race, he impersonated the right to annihilate the unclean race, i.e. Jews and Gypsies.

And he killed them with the hatred because he turned his hatred toward them.

It has more levels.

He was a very wise man and at some point, through his ego, he stopped seeing the right thing and started doing black magic and the dark powers had taken over him, for he himself consciously wanted it.

He wanted to rule the world and was willing to do everything he could to achieve it.

Question: Because the killing in wars is now anonymous, so cruelty is anonymous too but it kills more human beings?

Answer: Yes, but it is only one level because this is the level when the man invented it as his goal and with his vengeance he wanted to shoot and kill.

It is different when they are soldiers and receive it as a command so they obey that commander and they may not have hatred towards those people that they are fighting with.

The cruelty is there in this anonymity.

The difference is between when the cruelty is created by the man himself and when one only obeys the commands but he also has his share of responsibility for the death because he obeyed the command.

However, the person who invented it and who issued the order has the biggest share of Responsibility.

Question: When cruelty, humiliation or hatred is created but also helplessness, powerlessness, incapability or vengeance, many times at that moment one will consciously or subconsciously say words such as promises, oaths or curses. I wonder how these promises, oaths, spells and curses will affect our soul, what happens there?

Answer: At the highest level, the soul will not be affected.

SOUL IS THE PURE LIGHT.

But at the lowest level, it represents the energy bonds that are recorded in the soul.

The soul has it inside of her as information, not in the form of bonds but in form of a record and that is why it is transformed in those next lives and there the physical being actually experience it in a greater or lesser part according to an agreement they make with the other souls and what they agree to live.

It is the information and the record that the soul carries. And then there will be an agreement between souls about what will happen and whom it will involve in order to clean it up or even make it worse and thus to fulfil that particular mission of life.

And then, on that physical level, that human being realizes it, depending on how that human being is guided by his soul but it may not be fulfilled if he does not perceive or listen to his soul, if he does not let himself to be guided by it and in that life act against his soul and himself.

You already know that there is no such thing as a PUNISHMENT and that soul just is liberated, is taught and perfected through this experience and that thanks to this experience, soul can evolve and grow in that life but it can also fall down, depending on what happens in that life.

The soul needs to try everything because nothing is good and nothing is bad.

It's just a certain point of view of those deeds.

But since that soul is Love and Light, ultimately on that journey back home, that Love triumphs and it gains real KNOWLEDGE OF GOOD AND EVIL by life and real experiences that this soul has experienced,

Therefore, there is no punishment and no evil in this sense because it is only a form of experience and with those other lives, you just need to balance and cleanse everything.

Sometimes when there is lot of evil in that particular life, it needs to be balanced out by the good, by the forgiveness and by the change in other lives.

And there can be many lives where a human being lives and creates negative energies and one „saint's life,, is enough and that Love will change it all.

The Love is much stronger and it changes everything.

Therefore, evil is very relative because it is something through which a human being can learn to understand and then change it within himself.

Something always happens and it depends on how human beings react to those situations.

That's why things happen to you in many lives and repeat until you learn to do it otherwise.

Your SOUL knows it but you have to understand it as a human being through that particular life in which the energy matrix then transcribes through the positive action of the human being.

Question: You told me that there is no punishment and what we live, is the result of the energies that we have created in our entire being so why are we still creating those punishments in ourselves?

Answer: Punishment is an image of the human ego and punishment does not exist as such.

That human ego has manifested the punishment by the power and superiority and also by the superiority of people over each other.

It happened through the society and the church that needed to rule and control people. This is in large.

And in a small way, it is a certain level of ego that creates a punishment for that particular human being.

And it is also taught by education that there is a punishment and then a person punishes himself because it is also a FEELING OF UNWORTHINESS, in other words: I am so small that someone has power over me and I deserve to be punished however that man creates the punishment himself.

Imagine it is a crime for someone to steal bread.

Quasi it is not right but when a man steals the bread for his hungry child, he does not consider it to be a crime. So it's a point of view of how we look at it.

For one it is essential and necessary and for another, it is worthy of punishment.

The feeling of punishment arises only from the level of the Superiority of one's ego or the ego of others and therefore it is only YOU who punishes yourself.

There is no punishment.

Punishment is the result of the human court system and it results from INEQUALITY because if human beings would live in EQUALITY thus they would not desire to control other human beings and at the same time they would live in harmony with Cosmic laws and nature and Mother Earth and therefore there would be no need for secular laws and people would live in harmony with all being.

The fact that human society operates on the basis of secular law is a consequence of people crossing the boundaries of good and of Cosmic laws and these human laws keep them within certain limits through the punishment because Cosmic laws have ceased to be a natural part of human beings. Whole nature and animals live in harmony and in accordance and they all take only what they need for life.

They take no more and serve each other.

They hunt just to survive, so they maintain that delicate balance and harmony of life because they don't hunt for fun.

And so it is. Amen.
